I love France and the French. I love Paris and where we live, surrounded by such a gourmet foodie culture. I love macarons. I love my husband. Not in that order, of course. I used to be a sappy romantic; now I just go weak at the knees when I find myself driving around the Arc de Triomphe.

Macarons We were delighted to see macarons in many boutiques and in Osaka, they were even served at the breakfast buffet in our hotel (mango-passionfruit). The most beautiful ones I saw (sorry, the image was on Instagram stories and I can ' t recuperate it) were from the Matsuya department store in Asakusa, all individually wrapped.

I am really excited to have Jill Colonna ' s cookbook “ Mad about Macarons ” . I have tried in the past to make macarons unsuccessfully but I made them yesterday and they were fantastic. If I can make the shell so easily, then I know that the possibilities are endless. I would recommend this book both for experienced macaron makers but also for novice in baking, as well as people like myself who were terrified to make them.
