The average crystals attains a size of 100 nm in length and 3 nm in width. As each day passes, pre-dentin is formed along the pulpal boundary, the adjacent pre-dentin that was formed during the previous day mineralizes and becomes dentine. During the period of crown development, approximately 4 µm of dentine is laid down in every 24 hours. Incremental deposition and mineralization of dentine begins at the tips of the pulp horns at the DEJ. Dentinogenesis continues until the entire crown is complete and ...

Batwings were no different. The exercise is essentially an isometric chest supported dumbbell row hold where you focus on retracting your scapula and pulling your elbows back as hard as you can. Coach John gives a detailed description of them in this article. I've used Batwings quite a bit since I first learned of them, and I really like them.
